Resilience is an independent, not-for-profit organization dedicated to the healing and empowerment of sexual assault survivors through non-judgmental crisis intervention counseling, individual and group trauma therapy, and medical and legal advocacy in the greater Chicago metropolitan area. Established in 1974, Resilience now serves more than 2000 survivors of sexual violence and their loved ones annually through our main office in downtown Chicago and our community-based offices in Austin, Ravenswood, and on the Stroger Hospital campus.

We are seeking a Prevention Educator to join our Austin Community Office. The Prevention Educator is responsible for providing sexual violence prevention education and activism directed toward social change and primary prevention of sexual violence. Strategies include sexual violence public awareness, youth focused prevention education, professional training services for adults as well as planning and executing community mobilization and social justice activism campaigns. Resilience prevention work requires cultural competency that reflects a feminist, victim-centered analysis of the problem of sexual violence and recognizes the system of privilege within our culture, the impact of oppression and the intersections of oppressions in survivor identities and communities.
